

The New Planners Guide

A comprehensive guide for the new planner

CREATEYOU86

2015

Authored by: Createyou86

The New Planners Guide

---

A comprehensive guide for the new planner

Diving In

Welcome to the world of planning. And organization! We want to help make your transition to planning as simple, and informative as possible. Here at Createyou86 we want to welcome you to this comprehensive guide for beginning planners. So grab some tea or your favorite drink, and dive right in.

Which Planner is which?

There are many different types of planners, and getting into the planning world can be overwhelming if you aren't sure what to look for. Some of the more popular brands include: Filofax, Day-Timer, Moleskin, Midori Travelers Notebook or MTN, Personal Planner, Staples ARC System, Day Runner, Franklin Covey, and even the Createyou86 Fauxdori.

Planning Accessories

There are plenty of great accessories you can purchase for planning in your new planner, and plenty of these accessories are more than affordable. Some supplies that you might want to pick up are stickers and washi tape for some decoration. Most planner pages can be pretty plain, and many people look for decorations to make their planner more appealing. However, if you are looking for a more basic planner that is fine as well. Everybody knows that sticky notes are great for keeping notes, but they have a tendency to be blah. However, there are some places that you can purchase quality planning supplies that will go the distance. Target's Dollar Spot, and The Dollar Tree are great places to begin your search for planner accessories. Another accessory for your planner is tabs. Tabs aren't the most exciting accessory, but they are a necessary part of planning. Many planners come with tabs for you to divide your information, but if you are looking for extra tabs for your planner there are always page flags which are useful and affordable until you can purchase or create some new dividers. Another product you might want to look into purchasing are pens. Pens can be a pivotal part of planning. Pens can help to color-code activities throughout the week. There are even Coleto pens which have several colors in the same pen. Then you have essentials for printing your own pages should you not like the ones that come with your products. Some products you might need include a printer, paper, and a hole punch. A regular handheld school supply hole punch will do fine, or you can find more expensive versions made exclusively for ring type planners which can range from $30.00-$40.00 plus shipping from foreign manufacturers. There are plenty of stores to purchase awesome supplies for your new planner. There are many places to find a planner ranging from Target, to Amazon, but you are the only one who knows the exact specifications for your needs. Createyou86 hopes that this guide has given a little bit of insight into the new planner experience. Feel free to contact us with any questions regarding planning; we would be more than happy to help.■

Planner Supply List

Planner

Dividers (come with a new planner)

Journal Inserts (Non-ringed planners, buy journals or make your own)

Diary inserts (come with a new ringed planner, or you can make your own)

Extra pages (Lists, and note pads)

Make your own

Paper

Printer

Hole punch (If homemade pages)

Hole protector stickers

Decorations

Washi tape

Stickers

Stamps

Post-it notes, page flags

Pens

Photo Supply List

Contact Createyou86

Createyou86@gmail.com

Website & Blog: <http://www.createyou86.weebly.com>

Fauxdori Store: <http://www.createyou86.tictail.com>

Twitter: @Createyou86

Instagram: @Createyou86

We would love to help on your new planning journey. We would also like to see any photos of your planning journey. We can see your photos if you tag us #Createyou86 and @Createyou86.